ROBESPIERRE

By HILAIRE BELLOC, B.A.

Late Brackenbury Scholar of Balliol College, Oxford, and author of "Danton, A Study"

MR. BELLOC'S remarkably vivid presentation of "Danton" will prepare readers for the study of "Robespierre," with which he now follows it. Of "Danton" Literature (London) said: "We greet Mr. Belloc as a rising star in the world of letters. . . . One is amazed at this book coming from so young a writer. In spite of paradox and occasional gush, the style, in the main, is as lofty and pure as is his treatment of his magnificent subject."

THE APOSTLES' CREED

Its Origin, Its Purport, and Its Historical Interpretation

By ARTHUR CUSHMAN McGIFFERT

Washburn Professor of Church History in the Union Theological Seminary

A CRITICAL study of unusual importance which is destined to command attention and provoke discussion. Its publication has been deferred to the present time because the author had reached conclusions at variance with many modern scholars which he did not wish to publish until he could give reasons for them in detail. These reasons constitute the greater part of the volume, and contain discussions of the most important questions connected with the origin, the text, the purpose and the historical interpretation of the creed.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, NEW YORK

TO meet a wider demand than has shown itself for "The Annual American Catalogue," it is proposed to replace that publication this year with a

Cumulated Annual American Catalogue

including in one alphabet the short title lists of the books of 1900 and 1901, giving the information by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. It is hoped that this form of catalogue will prove a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

8vo, cloth, - - - $2.00

if ordered and paid for in advance.

Should there be enough demand for the "Annual Catalogue" as heretofore published, with full titles and annotations of the books for 1901, bound in half leather, at $3.50, or in sheets at $3.00, we should be prepared also to continue that publication.

THE CUMULATED ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE will be ready in February. Orders, specifying in which form the Catalogue is desired, should be addressed at an early date to

NOTES IN SEASON.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. recently published the sixth volume of Clowes's history of the "Royal Navy," not the seventh, as inadvertently noted in our last week's issue.

HARPER & BROTHERS will shortly publish H. G. Wells's "Anticipations," part of which was published in the North American Review last summer. Mr. Wells has gone thoroughly into his subject, and covers not only a forecast of what we shall accomplish in mechanical development, but in our civic and domestic progress as well. It is a book calculated to arouse debate and stimulate thought.

JOHN LANE has just ready "Twelfth Night," in the series of Vale Press Shakespeare, the commercial value of which, we understand, is steadily rising. Mr. Lane announces a change of price in the works of Stephen Phillips, that has gone into effect since the turn of the year as follows: "Poems" and "Herod," hitherto $1.50, has been reduced to $1.25 net; while "Paolo and Francesca" has been changed from $1.25 regular to $1.25 net.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have ready this week two more volumes of their Temple edition of the Bible, viz., "Leviticus," edited by the Rev. J. A. Paterson, Professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Literature, at New College, Edinburgh, and "Matthew" and "Mark," edited by the Very Rev. C. H. Stubb, D.D., Dean of Ely. They have also just ready Series 11, vol. 4, of "International Clinics." Meig's "Origin of Disease" will hereafter be sold through the trade as well as by subscription.

THE GEORGE M. HILL COMPANY, Chicago, have been fortunate enough to secure from L. Frank Baum, the creator of the successful "Father Goose" and "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," a new book for children which they are confident will make as great a sensation as any of the author's former books. The new book is entitled "Santa Claus: His Life and Adventures," and is the outcome of two years of hard work on the part of Mr. Baum. The book will be gotten ready in September in the most up-to-date and attractive style.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have just published a volume on the Boer war, entitled "With Rimington," by L. March Phillipps, Captain in Rimington's Guides. It is a vivid soldier's story by a man who took part in many of the important engagements of the South African war. They are about to publish a new edition of the poems of Adam Lindsay Gordon, the Australian poet, who committed suicide thirty years ago because of public neglect. He was a strange, erratic genius, and a man of varied experiences and emotions. His verses, entitled "How We Beat the Favorite," are regarded by many as the best metrical description of a horse race ever written.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish this month an interesting study of Robespierre, by Hilaire Belloc, the author of a strong work on "Danton." Mr. Belloc's new work is from a somewhat new point of view, and has been written in the light of the latest data which have only recently become accessible. Two other important works to be brought out this month will be Dr. Arthur Cushman McGiffert's work on "The Apostles' Creed—its origin, its purpose and its history." This was written two years ago as a lecture, but has been withheld from publication until the author felt himself fully fortified in a position which might be assailed. The other work is Newman Smyth's "Through Science to Faith," supplementing his work "The Place of Death in Evolution" brought out in 1897. They are issuing a pocket edition of George Meredith, consisting of fifteen volumes. Each volume is 6½ x 4½ inches in size and is bound in red cloth, gilt lettered on the back, gilt top, with Mr. Meredith's autograph on the side. Six volumes are now ready—"The Ordeal of Richard Feverel," "Beauchamp's Career," "The Egoist." "Diana of the Crossways," "Evan Harrington" and "Sandra Belloni."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

The story is told by Giles Henry Anderton, journalist, who is apparently wrecked in a southern sea. After hours of insensibility he awakens in a strange land called "Intermere." This beautiful country he is told is within the mundane sphere but inhabited by a people infinitely in advance of our race—"a people who, by evolutionary processes, have unlocked a large proportion of the secrets of nature and the universe, and turning them to ennobling ends not to selfish purposes." He spends some time in "Intermere," investigating its customs, laws, government, etc.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 11, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FALLACY OF BOOK STATISTICS.

BOOK production seems to have fascinated the mathematically-inclined of all ages quite as much as it is known to have vexed the wise men of their generation, from Solomon's time down to the period of the compiler of the statistics of the literary output of the world for Le Droit d'Auteur, and his contemporaries. To arrive at an estimate of the literary activity of the world during a given period, or an age, is certainly a laudable endeavor; it would be still more laudable, however, if those worthy persons who take it upon themselves to furnish the world with the result of their investigations were more discriminating in selecting their sources. Modern statisticians of book production seek rather to augment their figures, than to winnow the absolutely new book from its twin brother reproduced for the thousandth time; and so they succeed in astounding the uninitiated world with figures of the activity of the printing press, instead of furnishing evidence of the productiveness of the brain of the thinker, the scientist, the poet or the romancer. "Of making many books there is no end," as we all know; but who can tell how many of these books are entirely new! That is, how many of them are not old books revamped, either entire or in parts, or, as Lamb designated them, "books that are not books," valuable enough in themselves, perhaps, but hardly literature.

And if one were indeed conscientious enough, and ambitious to secure this information, a life time entirely devoted to the task, would hardly suffice in making the search after the new books published in the world during a decade of the nineteenth century alone.

As an instance of the magnitude of the task, as well as of the methods of the modern compiler in arriving at the literary output of the world, we give the following summary from Le Droit d'Auteur for October 15, 1901:

COUNTRY.	YEAR.	BOOKS.	YEAR.	PERIODICALS.
Germany	1900	24,000	1900	7,500
Austria	1899	5,500	1899	2,800
Belgium	1899	2,100	1899	800
Chili	1891	400	1896	310
Denmark	1900	1,200	1896	230
Egypt	1898	160	1899	90
Spain	1897	1,200	1900	1,350
United States	1900	6,300	1900	21,000
France	1900	10,000	1900	6,700
Great Britain	1900	7,100	1898	3,500
Hungary	1898	1,600	1899	300
India (English)	1891	7,700	1899	1,000
Italy	1900	10,000	1899	2,400
Japan	1895	3,500	1898	800
Norway	1900	600	1900	450
Netherlands	1900	2,900	1897	980
Russia	1895	11,500	1899	1,000
Sweden	1900	1,600	1896	350
Switzerland	1900	1,500	1896	1,050
Turkey	1890	900	1896	50
		100,560		52,660

If any one were in doubt as to whether these figures truly represent the output of books in these countries during the periods named—and we do not even insist that they be new books—we refer him to the excellent paper on "Relative Book Production, American and Foreign," read at the Joint Library Meeting at Washington, D. C., March 31, 1900, by Dr. E. C. Richardson, the librarian of Princeton University, which was printed in full in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for April 14, 1900, [v. lvii, pp. 805-807.] Dr. Richardson did not pretend to differentiate the new books from the old, to show the fallacy of the statistics he criticised, but simply pointed out how the figures were swelled—especially in the foreign lists—by the inclusion of continuations of books published in parts, reprint extracts from periodicals, annuals, periodicals, etc.

Notwithstanding Dr. Richardson's exposure, a writer in a recent issue of the Börsenblatt, commenting on the figures reproduced above from Le Droit d'Auteur, flatters Germany on its literary activity, doubting even whether the estimate has been placed high enough. Warming up to his subject this writer goes back to the infancy of printing, and quotes Professor Dziatzko as authority that Germany in the 15th century produced 20,000 separate books. Hain, by the way, estimates the total number of books printed up to the beginning of the 16th century at 16,299, Van der Linde at 30,000. These figures, let it be remembered, include the products of the presses in Italy, Switzerland, France, the Netherlands, Spain and England, besides those in Germany. However, apparently oblivious of this fact, the writer in question continues, and states, without giving his authority, that the book production in Germany in the 16th century was 100,000; in the 17th century, 200,000; in the 18th century, 500,000; and in the 19th century at least one million, though this he thinks is placing the total below, rather than above the true mark. Incidentally he refers to Schwetschke's summary of the book fair catalogues from 1564-1846, which leads us to suspect that he bases his estimates on the totals given by Schwetschke. How reliable these are may appear from the fact that these book fair catalogues (Mess-kataloge) contained the titles of all books offered for sale at the fairs in Franfurt-on-the-Main and in Leipzig, those published abroad as well as the German books, old as well as new, sermons, broadsides, chap books, cook books, dream books and other riff-raff. The last of these catalogues, published in 1846, contained the titles of 383 books published in non-German cities. Besides titles of books actually for sale these catalogues also gave titles of books not yet printed, some of them not yet written, a practice that was condemned in no measured terms by the early bookseller, and that often led to a change of the publisher of the book fair catalogues. Hence, these lists have little if any value as sources upon which to base statistics of book production.

Nor are the sources of the present day, as Dr. Richardson has pointed out, absolutely reliable, not even the records of the United States Copyright Office—as hundreds of books are copyrighted that are never actually published. The office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and our contemporary the London Publishers' Circular, in making up the statistics of the books published each year, make an attempt so far as possible to separate the new books from the new editions; THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY also enumerates separately the books of foreign manufacture. This, in a measure, narrows the figures down to the output of the new issues of the press for the period covered. It does not, however—nor would it be commercially possible for a purely trade journal—extend its researches and separate the absolutely new books by American authors from those publications which for one good reason or another are considered to be new trade books.

The economist, and those curious about the matter, must therefore take the statistics of the book production of any country, or of the world, as evolved by present methods, with considerable allowance. While the outlook thus far has not been particularly promising, the Berne Union pour la protection des oeuvres littéraires et artistiques may yet succeed in devising ways and means by which the exact data concerning the literary activity of the world may be gleaned. Until that time arrives the estimates must rest largely upon hypothesis; and in the meantime the one who "guessed" that the total of all the new books issued from the invention of printing to the present day did not much more than overrun a million, may be just as right as the contributor to the Börsenblatt, who claims that Germany alone produced that number in one century.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION held a meeting at the Aldine Association, on the 8th inst. The business of greatest importance before the meeting was the dealing with the question of fiction. After careful deliberation the following resolutions were adopted modifying sections IV. and V. of the plan adopted by the Association on February 13, 1901:

IV. "That the members of the Association agree that on all copyrighted works of fiction not issued net, published by them after February 1, 1902, the greatest discount allowed at retail for one year after publication shall be 28 per cent.; and all the rules for the protection of net books shall apply to the protection of fiction to this extent.

"The conditions governing the sale of fiction are such that the Association does not attempt to fix a uniform price at which works of fiction shall be sold but only to name a maximum discount which, however, it is hoped will rarely be given."

V. "The only exceptions to the foregoing rules shall be in the case of libraries, which may be allowed a discount of not more than 10 per cent. on net books and 33 1-3 per cent. on fiction."

It will be noted that the Association has taken into consideration the difficulties under which fiction is sold under different circumstances and in different localities and has therefore for the present not attempted to fix a uniform price, but simply put a limit to the depression of the prices of books for advertising purposes. While it leaves the bookseller in every section free to dispose of the question of price, as the exigencies of the occasion may permit, it protects him against the cutting of the price of fiction to cost and even below.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL MEETING.

THE annual meeting of the Stationers' Board of Trade was held at the rooms of the Board in the Bennett Building, New York, Henry C. Bainbridge, presiding. There were represented, either in person or by proxy, the following members: Aikin, Lambert & Co., Allyn & Bacon, American News Co., D. Appleton & Co., Charles T. Bainbridge's Sons, Biglow & Main Co., Boorum & Pease Co., L. L. Brown Paper Co., A. L. Burt, Cassell & Co., Ltd., Columbian Paper Co., Cooke & Cobb Co., Croscup & Sterling Co., Thos. Y. Crowell & Co., De Jonge, Louis & Co., G. W. Dillingham Co., Jos. Dixon Crucible Co., Dodd, Mead & Co., Doubleday, Page & Co., Esterbrook Steel Pen Co., Eberhard Faber, Philip Hake Mfg. Co., A. J. Holman & Co., Henry Holt & Co., E. I. Horsman Co., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Kiggins & Tooker Co., J. B. Lippincott Co., Little, Brown & Co., Macmillan Co., Merrill & Baker, Miller Bros. Cutlery Co., Thomas Nelson & Sons, Oxford University Press, Perkins, Goodwin & Co., Publishers' Weekly, Daniel Slote & Co., Spencerian Pen Co., S. S. Stafford, Tower Mfg. & Novelty Co., Samuel Ward Co., L. E. Waterman Co., Byron Weston Co., Geo. C. Whitney Co., C. B. Woodworth Sons Co., E. & J. B. Young & Co.

After the usual routine business, the president, Mr. Henry C. Bainbridge, addressed the meeting as follows:

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen and Members of the Stationers' Board of Trade.

At this, the twenty-seventh annual meeting of our organization, it gives me particular pleasure to state that we have had a successful business year, and are beginning a new year with prospects that were never brighter or more encouraging. The year just closed has been a prosperous one in the various trades and to our country at large.

No better evidence of the solidity of American institutions could have been given than was given a few months ago when our noble President, William McKinley, was ruthlessly assassinated. It would have been sufficient cause for financial panic at other times, or for a revolution under some less stable government. The death of no other man has ever brought sorrow to the hearts of so many people, and his memory will be respected as long as our flag continues to wave. Yet the wheels of commerce went on without faltering, and with his able successor at the helm, our ship of state sails on, the world watching our progress, envying our achievements, confident of our integrity and strength.

During the past year our Board has been fairly prosperous. We have gained in the confidence and respect of our members. The collection department has collected quite a large amount of money for members, and has been successful in recovering many accounts which were considered almost worthless. The information department has been conducted on business principles, and an effort has been made to improve the efficiency of this department. The information which is sent out is obtained from reliable sources, and is all paid for, enabling us to give better satisfaction and promptness; but it increases the expense of the department. The efficiency of this department can be improved if more members would use it to the full number of reports to which they are entitled per year. The bankruptcy department, due to the healthy condition of trade everywhere, has not, during the year just closed, been so busy as in former years; still good work has been done, notably the management of the closing out of the business of Leggat Bros., in which we believe creditors will in time be paid in full. Doubtless the condition of business is very satisfactory to members, but it has made it more difficult for the officers who try to make the Board show a good balance sheet. During the year we have made needed improvements in the office, by the purchase of a large safe for the protection of our records from fire, and of needed filing cases for mercantile reports, etc. Besides, in March last, the Trustees had an accountant audit the books. The accounts were found to be in an entirely satisfactory condition. It was also decided to have an accountant audit the books yearly.

Our membership has not increased as much as I wish it might. We have, however, elected three new members, and three former members renewed membership with us during the year; but we are not receiving the support from the trade that our association deserves. Many firms who are not members should become members, and would find it to their benefit. The office is well equipped to look after the collection of accounts everywhere, and to supply the latest mercantile information.

The Board, as I have said in former communications to members is run solely in their interest, and it is due the Trustees, who devote their time and experience to conducting its affairs, that every member of the trade who can make use of its facilities, should become a member of the Board and lend his aid and support, as the satisfaction which comes from seeing the work well done and the Board a real help to members is all that the Trustees receive for their services.

I must thank the Vice-Presidents for the amount of work assumed by them while I was incapacitated, by reason of a broken leg, for about five months.

Personally I am glad to note that our annual dinner is becoming a regular yearly event. Such gatherings as we have had in recent years have been a credit both to the Board and its members, and cannot but be beneficial to all in our business and social life.

In closing I want to thank the officers and employees for their courtesy and faithfulness during the year, and to assure them of my hearty appreciation.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Edwin H. Loveless, then submitted the following

There is on deposit $2,000.00 redemption fund—$1,000.00 in the Irving Savings Institution and $1,000.00 in the East River Savings Institution.

The year ended with a balance of $395.99 in the Treasury and interest due from the Savings Banks on the redemption fund amounting to over $300.00.

James C. Aikin, as Chairman of the Executive Committee next presented the following REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

INFORMATION DEPARTMENT.

The reports on file in this department up to December 31, 1901, number 70,236. At this time we have revised reports of the standing and credit of 53,178 dealers; of which 2,634 are new names added during the year.

From January 1, to December 31, 1901, we furnished to members 13,931 reports, as against 14,063 during 1900.

INFORMATION (REPORTS) APPLIED FOR.

	1900	1901
Inquiries of correspondents	5,139	5,060
Requests of dealers for statements	2,958	3,263

INFORMATION (REPORTS) RECEIVED.

Reports from correspondents	4,504	4,771
Statements received	1,803	1,936

During 1901 we sent to members 4,927 inquiries for information. In 1900, 5,082 inquiries were sent out. 597 letters were written as against 574 in 1900. 6,635 weekly circulars have been issued from this department during the year.

This department was used by 125 members in 1900 and during the year 1901 by 105.

Various members have obtained 571 reports in excess of the number limited without extra charge.

COLLECTION DEPARTMENT.

In the collection department there have been received for collection during the year 3,317 claims, aggregating $130,695.43.

Collections to the amount of $44,679.06 have been made through the office, and over $25,000.00 was paid direct to members as the result of notice from office and attorneys.

1,380 claims have been closed by collection through the office, by attorneys, or paid direct to members.

2,318 claims were sent to attorneys during the year.

587 claims amounting to $25,730.88 were settled direct.

478 claims were settled through attorneys.

315 claims were settled through the office.

684 claims returned uncollectable.

107 claims transferred to bankruptcy.

1,146 claims are still open and in process of collection, 2,171 claims having been disposed of.

There have been received 17,295 letters, and 32,136 written.

BANKRUPTCY DEPARTMENT.

During the year 210 cases were opened in this department which included 756 claims amounting to $72,820.02.

14 cases (17 claims) amounting to $1,470.22 were settled direct in full.

27 cases (36 claims) amounting to $3,439.85 were settled direct.

113 cases (391 claims) were settled by compromise.

149 cases (407 claims) amounting to $43,308.09 were returned as worthless.

4 cases (4 claims) amounting to $313.57 were withdrawn.

The number of claims and amount, returned as worthless, is accounted for in being able to get many old claims, mostly barred by statute of limitations, off the books. In fact many of the defendants had obtained their discharge in bankruptcy, and this permitted the cancelling of the cases on our records.

There has been collected in this department $29,319.01, not including the $3,439.85 paid direct to creditors.

There has been received in this department 4,081 letters and 7,996 written, besides 4,307 circulars have been issued.

Aside from the regular correspondence in this department 1,280 general letters were received and 953 were written.

The books have been examined monthly and found correct, as have the accounts been regularly passed and paid by the 15th of each month.

We close the year with every single assessment for dues paid.

The Executive Committee request the cooperation of each and every member of the Board to make the ensuing year more successful than any previous year since its organization, which will insure commensurate benefits to all.

The following were elected to serve as Trustees for the ensuing year:

James C. Aikin, of Aikin, Lambert & Co.; Chas. Watson Allen, of Little, Brown & Co.; Thomas R. Bacon, of J. B. Lippincott Co.; Henry C. Bainbridge, of Chas. T. Bainbridge's Sons; Wm. B. Boorum, Jr., of Boorum & Pease Co.; Chas. S. Braisted, of Eagle Pencil Co.; Robert Dixon, of D. Appleton & Co.; Patrick Farrelly, of American News Co.;

Fredk. C. Horn, of Wm. C. Horn Bro. & Co.; William Keuffel, of Keuffel & Esser Co.; Chas. S. Kiggins, of Kiggins & Tooker Co.; Chas. McLoughlin, of McLoughlin Bros.; J. Walter Spalding, of A. G. Spalding & Bros.; L. B. Sturgis, of the Macmillan Co.; Nelson Taylor, of The Baker & Taylor Co.; Miles Vernon, of S. E. & M. Vernon; Frank D. Waterman, of L. E. Waterman Co.; and Franklin Weston, of Byron Weston Co.

The election of the officers and appointment of committees will take place at a meeting of the new Board of Trustees to be held on the 14th inst.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

A CONFERENCE on the copyright question was held on the 6th inst. at Toronto, between David Mills, Minister of Justice, and Canadian publishers. A resolution was read which has been passed at a recent meeting of the booksellers' and stationers' section of the Toronto Board of Trade and allied interests, advocating the early passage by the Dominion Government of legislation on the lines of the Hall Caine agreement. The Minister promised careful consideration of the matter, and, in the course of his address, told of his interview, during the fall, with Mr. Chamberlain. The result of the conference with the Colonial Office had not, he said, been altogether satisfactory. The United States had an arrangement by which, when British authors got United States copyrights, the books must be printed and published in that country. A result was that, rather than have the type set on both sides of the Atlantic, it was a common thing to have it set in the United States only, and send stereo-plates to Great Britain for the British editions.

Mr. Mills said the Government had not yet committed itself to any line of action, but, speaking for himself, if the English authors refused licenses to publish in Canada and persisted in treating this country as part of the United States in copyright matters, he thought a remedy could be found in imposing a high rate of duty upon such books coming in, as an intimation that Canada considered itself unfairly dealt with.

OBITUARY.

ELBRIDGE STREETER BROOKS.

ELBRIDGE STREETER BROOKS, author, and editor of the Lothrop Publishing Company, of Boston, died early in the morning of the 7th inst., at his home 44 Walnut street, Somerville, Mass. Mr. Brooks was the son of the Rev. Elbridge Gerry Brooks, a leading Universalist clergyman, a man of strong intellect and uncompromising opinions; notably in the slavery crisis. His mother, Martha Fowle, was a Munroe of the Lexington family. Of the seventy "minute men" in line on Lexington Green, eleven were her relatives, and of those whose names are inscribed on the monument three were her blood relations. Ensign Robert Munroe was her great uncle, and on the paternal side, Mr. Brooks's grandfather was a privateer in the War of 1812. His middle name of Streeter was that of a leader of early Universalism known as "Father Streeter."

Mr. Brooks was born in Lowell, Mass., April 14, 1846. His father subsequently had parishes in Bath, Me., and Lynn, Mass. When Mr. Brooks was thirteen years of age the Brooks family moved to New York where the father became pastor of the Sixth Universalist Church. Young Streeter attended public schools until 1861 when he entered the Free Academy, now the College of the City of New York. Leaving in the middle of his junior year his active life was begun as a clerk in the medical department of D. Appleton & Co. For fifteen years Mr. Brooks (with the exception of a short period of activity in connection with a printing house and in an effort to establish a Universalist young men's association on the lines of the Y. M. C. A.) was connected in the various departments of the publishing business, holding positions in the publishing houses of J. P. Ford & Co. and Sheldon & Co. In the fall of 1876 he took charge of the English educational and subscription department of E. Steiger & Co., remaining there until December, 1879, when he joined Mr. Frederick Leypoldt to develop the Index Medicus, then just begun, and to assist in several other new publishing enterprises. While in the office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY his life work was unconsciously begun with the composition of several operettas—"The Land of Nod," "False Sir Santa Claus," etc.—written for the Sunday-school of his father's former church in New York. The subsequent publication of these in St. Nicholas so evidently delighted young readers and became so popular that his attention at once was turned more particularly to juvenile work. In the early eighties he became a member of the editorial staff of the Brooklyn Daily Times as reviser, literary editor and dramatic critic. In 1885 he was invited to become assistant editor of St. Nicholas. In 1887 he became editor and a member of the newly-formed corporation of D. Lothrop & Co. He remained in that position until the death of Mr. Lothrop and the business troubles of the house in 1892, in which he lost considerable money. When the concern was reorganized in January, 1895, he assumed the post of literary adviser which he held up to the time of his death. During all these years he continued to make his home on historic Prospect Hill, which had an attraction for him as the early home of his mother.

Mr. Brooks's judgment of books and his ability to determine their commercial value have been displayed in the number of successful books which the Lothrop Company has published in recent times. It was his recognition of the more popular features of Mr. Bachelder's manuscript of "Eben Holden" that started the book on its important success.

He was always a busy writer, and his object seemed to be to instruct and interest the young people. His first book was a labor of love, a life of his father, published in 1881. Since then he wrote forty-one other books, chiefly for children. His first marked success was his series of "Historic Boys" and "Historic Girls," in St. Nicholas in 1885 and 1886. In December, 1891, he wrote a prize story published in the Detroit Free Press, entitled "A Son of Issachar," of which Mr. Brooks said, "It was written to see if a religious novel would have a chance with a secular public and the result easily proved that such was possible. I maintained, as is seen in the case of 'Ben Hur,' that there is no ground so favorable for a real romance as Bible history."

The titles of his books are "Life Work of Elbridge Gerry Brooks," 1881; "In No Man's Land," 1885; "Historic Boys," 1885; "In Leisler's Times," 1886; "Chivalric Days," 1886; "Storied Holidays," 1887; "Historic Girls," 1887; "The Story of the American Indian," 1887; "The Story of New York," 1888; "The Story of the American Sailor," 1888; "The Story of the American Soldier," 1889; "A Son of Issachar," 1890; "The True Story of the United States of America," 1891; "The True Story of Christopher Columbus," 1892; "Heroic Happenings," 1893; "The Century Book for Young Americans," "The Story of the Government," 1894; "The True Story of George Washington," 1895; "A Boy of the First Empire," 1895; "Great Men's Sons," 1895; "The Story of Miriam of Magdala," 1895; "The Boy Life of Napoleon," 1895; "Under the Tamaracks—A story of Thousand Islands," 1896; "The True Story of Abraham Lincoln," 1896; "The Century Book of Famous Americans," 1896; 'The Long Walls—A ruin hunt in Greece," 1897; "The True Story of U. S. Grant," 1897; "The Century Book of the American Revolution," 1897; "The True Story of Benjamin Franklin," 1898; "A Son of the Revolution," 1898; "The Master of the Strong Hearts," 1898; "The True Story of Lafayette," 1899; "Historic Americans," 1899; "Stories of the Old Bay State," 1899; "On Woodcone Island," 1899; "In Blue and White," 1899; "The Story of the Nineteenth Century," 1900; "A God-Son of Lafayette," 1900; "With Lawton and Roberts," 1900; "The Century Book of the American Colonies," 1900; "In Defense of the Flag," 1900; "Animals in Action," 1901; "Under the Allied Flags," 1901.

Mr. Brooks was a member of the Authors' Club of New York, the originator and a director of the Boston Authors' Club, along with Mrs. Mary Alden Ward and Sam Walter Foss. He received the degree of master of arts from Tufts College in 1897. A widow and two daughters survive him. One of his daughters, Geraldine, is herself an author, taking rank among the younger writers of today. She is the author of "Dames and Daughters of Colonial Days" and "Dames and Daughters of the Young Republic."

OBITUARY NOTES.

Professor Heinrich Duntzer died December 16, at Cologne, aged eighty-nine. His name is chiefly associated with his commentaries on Goethe and Schiller, and his life of Lessing.

Jean de Bloch, Russian Councillor of State, political economist, railroad expert, and author of a book on "The War of the Future," died at Warsaw, on the 6th inst. M. de Bloch's book was published about three years ago and created quite a sensation everywhere. In it he discussed what he regarded as certain to happen in a conflict in which modern arms and other inventions were used. A good many of his theories, in the opinion of military experts, have, however, been disproved by the war in South Africa. One contention of M. de Bloch was that the increasing cost of war would ultimately render it impossible, and this theory is regarded as being of more weight than some of his other assertions.

Howard Noyes, the junior member of the firm of Henry D. Noyes & Co., of Boston, died at Hyde Park, Mass., December 22, 1901. He was born in Boston, May 2, 1870, and fitted for college at the Roxbury Latin School, graduating with the class of 1894 from Amherst, Mass. He was "Ivy Poet" in the exercises of commencement week, and was a member of the D K E fraternity. A few weeks after leaving college he took a position in the Ball Bearing Co. of Fitchburg, Mass., where he developed great quickness in grasping the details of business and in winning the confidence of his employers and associates. He was in charge of the office until he felt that he might be of special help to his father, with whom he became associated in 1896, taking charge as general manager of the retail department. On March 1, 1899, he became a member of the firm, and from that time until the beginning of his illness, in November, 1900, took practically the whole responsibility of all except the subscription part of the business. An attack of "grippe" developed into tuberculosis and for thirteen months Mr. Noyes maintained the struggle for life with a patience and fortitude that were heroic, retaining till the end that cheery loveableness that made him friends without number. He was the only remaining son of Mr. Henry D. Noyes who has the sympathy of his friends in the trade in his hour of affliction.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

The first monthly meeting of the Booksellers' League was given at the rooms of the Aldine Association on the evening of the 8th inst. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather upwards of fifty members and their friends were present.

The guest of the evening was Joseph Gantz, the President of the Publishers' Printing Company of New York, who read an interesting paper on "The Development of Printing," from which we hope to give extracts in some future issue.

Mr. Gantz was followed by Mr. Fleming H. Revell, who spoke of the conditions of the trade in the West and complimented the League upon its creditable work.

The annual dinner of the League will be given on Wednesday evening, February 5, at the rooms of the Aldine Association. John Kendrick Bangs, Brander Matthews, John

Major and one or two other celebrities are expected to be present. Tickets are now ready and may be obtained at $2 each of any officer or member of the Entertainment Committee, Cass Richardson and W. H. Parker at E. P. Dutton & Co.'s; Desmond Fitzgerald, with R. F. Fenno & Co..; and John Holden, with Thomas Whittaker, all of New York. The down town trade may obtain tickets at the Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 298 Broadway.

THE B. C. T.

IN our account of the annual dinner of the Brotherhood of Commercial Travellers our reporter, under a wrong impression, wrote that the souvenir gavel was presented to A. E. Turner, the outgoing president. As a matter of fact the officer presiding at the dinner is the outgoing president and so the gavel was presented to Brother H. J. Epping, and not to Brother Turner, who was honored in like manner in 1900.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

CLARKE CONWELL, of the Elston Press, Pelham Road, New Rochelle, N. Y., has in preparation a reprint of William Morris's "The Art and Craft of Printing." The edition will be limited to 300 copies.

The Publishers' Circular, according to a cable despatch to the New York Times, announces that 1000 fewer books were published in 1901 than in 1900, the total last year being 6044, including 1089 new editions.

CURTIS BATES, who for many years travelled for A. C. McClurg & Co., has made arrangements to represent hereafter A. W. Faber, covering the field from Ohio, west. Mr. Bates will continue to make Chicago his headquarters. Mr. Holcomb will as heretofore represent A. W. Faber in Ohio and in the Eastern and Southern States.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will publish at once a study in biological theology under the title of "The Kinship of God and Man," by the Rev. Dr. J. J. Lanier of Milledgeville, Ga.; also, "The Gospel of the Kingdom and the Gospel of the Church," by the Rev. Dr. William B. Brown, author of "The Problem of Final Destiny."

HONEYMAN & Co., Plainfield, N. J., recently published a pleasantly-written record of four-in-hand journeys in England by A. Van Doren Honeyman. The book will serve as a guide book to famous roads and inns and show places in several English counties—starting from Oxford and extending to the English lakes and the Isle of Wight.

THE AMERICAN WRITERS' TRUST, New York, has just published a burlesque by T. C. DeLeon, author of "The Rock or the Rye," etc., containing the "Inauguration of President Watterson" (as forecasted by Col. Edgerly Bowie, U. C. V.)—"Gormanius, or the Battle of Reps-Dems" (a close travesty of Macaulay's "Horatius"), and other timely skits, illustrated by C. K. Berryman, of the Washington Post, with nine full-page cartoons.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents a line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

The Publishers' Printing Company

32 and 34 Lafayette Place, New York

Desire to inform Publishers that they will commence manufacturing the plates of a complete set of Dickens and Thackeray. The type used will be a lean Long Primer Roman (especially selected) and made for them by the celebrated Dickinson Type Foundry of Boston.

The size of the page will be 6 x 3½ inches, and will be leaded with either a 10 or 12 to pica lead.

As the number of sets to be made will be limited, immediate correspondence is solicited.

J. Fenimore Cooper's Set of Plates is now ready for delivery. The entire set, or selections therefrom, are offered for sale. Samples of pages showing the size and type will be mailed upon application.

"Read it, you will find it well worth while."—The Mail and Express, N. Y.

A LILY OF FRANCE

A Sixteenth Century Romance

By Mrs. CAROLINE ATWATER MASON

Author of "A Woman of Yesterday," "The Quiet King," "A Wind Flower," etc.

"Far above the average of recent historical romances. . . . From first to last the action of the story is intensely dramatic. It is this portrayal of emotion old as the world is old, and strong as life, that most of all imparts to 'A Lily of France' its abiding quality, and makes it pre-eminently A BOOK TO REMEMBER."—The Press, Philadelphia.

SHELL LIFE

An Introduction to the British Mollusca. By EDWARD STEPP, F.L.S. With 32 original plates photographed from the actual shells, and upwards of 600 woodcuts. Crown 8vo, cloth gilt, gilt top, price $2.00.

"This is a very good introduction to the shell-bearing creatures of British waters, salt or fresh, and of the woods and lanes. Its chief aim is to arouse interest in the organic structure of the creatures themselves. From the Darwinian standpoint the book has a place and value of its own, which should recommend it to the student of nature behind a shell. The numerous and particularly excellent illustrations increase its value for the amateur in particular, to whom it is chiefly addressed."—Academy

PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL
(Thirtieth Year)

In response to the desires of the book trade we shall publish the forthcoming issue of THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, to be ready at the opening of the active Fall season, in August, 1902, to the publishers' catalogues contained therein. The books will be indexed by author, title and, practically, by subject or class. The name of series, the price, and name of publisher will also be given, so that any book contained in the ANNUAL may be located at once by whatsoever clue the user may have. The Index will be printed in two columns to the page, in readable type, full face letters being used to make reference to authors' names more convenient.

With a Complete Index

The bulk of the volume, as heretofore, will consist of the latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm names, with the smaller lists and advertisements of single books at the end. The patent "Duplex Index," having the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, enables instantaneous reference to the catalogues and the lists, whether the book is open or shut.

These lists, thus bound together, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working tool as to have made THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL for upwards of a quarter of a century indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. With the reference index to the books listed in the publishers' catalogues its practical usefulness will be enhanced an hundred fold.

The work will be offered to the trade in two styles :

With the Index, ... $5 00
Without the Index, ... 1 50

if ordered and paid for in advance of publication. Orders, stating whether the volume is desired with or without the index, should be registered at

The Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY
(P. O. Box 943) 298 Broadway, New York

☞We shall also supply the new volume of the ENGLISH REFERENCE LIST for which we control the American market. Further particulars as to price will be given later.
